

Companies and corporations with Sustainability reporting can be nominated to win international award

STOCKHOLM, September 29, 2010: The Globe Awards will be handed out for the fifth consecutive time at the annual gala at the Nordic Museum in Stockholm, Sweden on May 12th, 2011. The applications will be viewed in four categories: research, innovation, city and reporting. The most innovative prospect and practical projects will be chosen by the jury composed of top names from scientific, business and academic world in the area of sustainability. Now is time to apply.

Globe Award is a world covering sustainability award with the aim of fostering sustainable development in society. The awards are given out to recognize and encourage societies, the corporate sector, individuals and academia that have excelled in the area of sustainability. The awards are handed in four categories: the Sustainability Research Award, the Sustainability Innovation Award, the Sustainable City Award and the Sustainability Reporting Award.

The decision as to who will obtain a coveted award depends on four objective jury groups. Each of them consists of highly experienced and internationally recognized experts. Lars-Olle Larsson, Partner Sustainable Business Solutions at PricewaterhouseCoopers, is the overall chairman of the jury.

Members of the jury for the Globe Sustainability Reporting Award are: Olivier Boutellis-Taft, CEO Federation of European Accountants; Peter Wong, Member of the Board of Directors Global Reporting Initiative; Prof. Brian Ballou & Prof. Dan Heitger, Co-Directors, Center for Business Excellence Farmer School of Business, Miami University; Luis Perera, Partner in charge of Sustainable Business Solutions at PricewaterhouseCoopers; and Susanne Stormer, Vice President, Global TBL Management, Denmark. Jury group chairman is Paul Druckman, Chairman Executive Board of The Prince's Accounting for Sustainability Project.

- The Globe Awards are unique in my experience as they are part of something coordinated. I have been fascinated by the quality and breadth of the entrants across all the disciplines, says Paul Druckman, Chairman of the jury for Globe Sustainability Reporting Award.

Applicants from all over the world can apply to be nominated for the Globe Sustainability Reporting Award. Information and application forms can be downloaded at www.globeaward.org/apply from October 1st 2010 to February 4th 2011.

The Globe Award nominees will be made public on March 4th, 2011. Globe Award laureates will be announced on Mars 28th, 2011. Globe Awards solemn gala ceremony will take place for the fifth consecutive time at Nordic Museum in Stockholm May 12th, 2011.
